Helping every learner to read and write well

Who should attend?

- English/SEN leaders
- Learning Support Assistants
- English class teachers

Overview

A systematic synthetic phonics programme can provide you with the tools for literacy success but at what cost? Must you pull students from their regular timetable? Can you teach in larger group sizes? How long must a phonics lesson last? How can you ensure that every learner meets their potential when you have timetabling and resourcing barriers, and students' needs vary wildly in all directions?

This exciting training day unpicks how the Key Stage 3 Phonics programme can be implemented successfully. Teachers, leaders and phonics enthusiasts will be provided with a wealth of KS3 Phonics focused CPD which will explore:

- How best to timetable and organise phonics intervention in your setting
- How best to utilise additional adult support if available, and how to manage without other adults
- How progress can look horizontal, vertical or be in both directions simultaneously

By attending this training you will:

- Feel confident about how KS3 Phonics might look in your setting
- Learn practical approaches to making phonics work well for all students
- Have fun networking with colleagues from across the region

"Abi's training was extraordinary! She has already got me thinking about the starting points and how we narrow this epic gap between where we need the children to be and where they currently are."

Sam Bailey, Executive Principal,
Wellspring Academy Trust
